“ I am so sorry that I didnt find out until this morning. Robert was such a great neighbor of mine. I always enjoyed him walking over and asking me to help him with something but he always tried to offer me something, but I accepted his old newspapers and told him I sure appreciate you helping me get my fires started in my fireplace. I always enjoyed talking with him whether it was St. Louis Cardinals or more importantly our relationship we both had with our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ. I know you are there praising his Holy name and one day I will see you again my brother in Christ. Prayers for family of mercy and comfort.

“ Robert was my mother's best friend-Phyllis. They met at McDonalds and saw each other every day. They attended SWBU basketball for several years and watched the St. Louis Cardinals together. Robert and mom also played alot checkers and dominoes. I will never forget playing dominoes with Robert. He always let my mother win and let her believe she was good at the game. The truth, he let her win to make her happy. For that, I thank him.

Robert was a man with a big heart. I sat down with him a few years ago. He told me how thankful he was for his life, his wife Ethyl and his family. Robert told me he was grateful that he knew God. He was also grateful that God brought two lonely people together-Him and my mother. They met each other at a time both had lost their true loves.

I was priviliged to have known Robert. He smiled everyday and always lifted everyone up around him.

We love you Robert. You will always be in our hearts. Love Dave, Ashley, and Kobe Smith.
