“ Dear Grandpa Gunnels,
You helped raise me when I was younger, and always told me, "Tweet, if you drink too much chocolate milk, your eyes will turn blue".. Guess I drank it too much. I miss our morning rides to the restaurant and setting up the steam tables. I miss going to get donuts when everyone else was asleep.. I apologize for not being around enough the last few years. I miss the gooseberry cheesecake you made so wonderfully. I looked up to you, and knew that if I ever stepped out of line, you would grab the paddle and show it very clearly, haha. I miss playing on that dear old piano that each one of us kids did. I remember during holiday times sneaking into the garage to eat some of the amazing candies you always made. You had a knack for always making everyone feel at home and special. You had a story for just about everything. Family was family, no matter what. You were a very special person, and did anything for anyone. You stood by your beliefs regardless the situation. Everyone one of us learned something from you, and knew that no matter what, where ever you were, we had a home, a safe haven from whatever life could throw at us. I love you, and miss you terribly. My only wish is that I can show my children the things you have shown to me. I know you will be with me in my heart no matter what.
Love always,

“ To the family of Aubrey; I am truly saddened for your loss. I worked with Aubrey for many years at Wal-Mart and counted him as a dear friend, that loved to talk about his family and his Savior. I have no doubt that he ran into Heaven, as he would just light up when he spoke about that wonderful day. Heaven has gained a wonderful man and angel.
