“ I am so sorry, Terri, but yet happy that he is where he wants to be. No matter, though, it is still difficult to lose a parent, or anyone else close to you. I send my love and prayers for your comfort and peace and condolences to your mom and the rest of the family.

“ Lois and family, just read of your loved ones' death. My warm thoughts and sympathies to you all. I read your column each week and what a blessing your family has been as they have been available to help and show their love to all the family by caring for hubby/dad. He is now holding the hand of his Heavenly Father and feeling the epitome of love.
