“ To Barb and family,

My deepest condolences to all and may God Bless you in this time and in the days ahead of you. It is never easy, but with your trust in the Master I am sure that you will go forward.

Keep the thoughts of Jesus when he said, " Let the children come to me" Mark 10:14 and He tells us the greatest in His kingdom are, "the little children" Matt 18: 1-6.

“ *Lori and Wes,
Words could never explain what I feel for you. I know I've moved away, but have never forgotten you or the fact that our daughters were good friends. Shelby has mentioned Kelsie several times over the years and I wish they could have seen each other more. We are all so sorry for your loss and want you to know that Kelsie will forever leave an imprint in our lives. I have pictures of the girls from preschool and half of their kindergarten year. They are so bittersweet and will forever be cherished memories. I know that God will help you through this and it will be hard, but you are one of the kind-heartedest of families I have ever come to know. May god bless you, be with you, and heal you. Your other children need you and they will be there during this healing time. May you have peace.*

“ I send my deepest condolences to the family. Just a brief note expressing my feeling of sorrow concerning the death of your love one. I would like to share with you what helped me get through the saddest time in my life, when I lost my child in death. It does not matter how we lose them it still causes us pain. Revelation 21:4,5 speaks of a time when God will wipe out every tear from our eyes, and death will be no more neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The Bible also speaks of a resurrection right here on earth John 5:21,28,29. You may wonder if this is possible "the answer is (yes) Almighty God tell us it will take place Isaiah 55:11. Also he promises that the whole earth will be made into a paradise so when our loved ones are raised, they will not be raised to life in a world filled with crime, war and sickness. They will have an opportunity to live forever on earth in peaceful and happy conditions. I hope in time that the family will find some comfort in knowing that Almighty God does care for you during your time of sorrow 2 Corinthians 2:3,4
