“ Angelia, Eric, My words cannot express the loss I felt when I heard about Kenny. I know my heart is broken for this child who is now gone from this earth & from your lives'. I know your loss is the greatest you have ever known. I have watched Kenny grow up & have known him even before he had siblings. I don't know what happened to Kenny, but I know God took him for a reason that you may never understand. He took my husband, Rick, who was my life, too. I have suffered much pain in my life. But, I feel now, that you have suffered more. I don't know how to say this, but, one day, you will understand. Right now, that is impossible. You are walking baby steps again. I loved your son. I saw Jesus in his face everytime I saw him. I don't know what else to say. He, like Jesus, was born to die, much too soon. I can't explain it to you. But someday you will understand. I pray for peace & comfort in what will be the worst days of your lives'. May God comfort you & your family & keep you in his tender loving care. You will be together again. Oh, what a blessed day that will be! In Gods' love, your friend, Kristy Reynolds~

“ AmeriFace and cleftAdvocate and the families we serve offer our prayers and condolences in this difficult time. Kenny will continue to be an ambassador of acceptance and understanding for countless years to come through his participation in the Healing Art program. Thank you for sharing him with us and the world.

On a more personal note, the Oliver family sends our love. Kenny had a positive impact on us and our children's lives and we will miss him deeply until we meet again in the room our Father in Heaven has prepared for us. We love you.

“ We are lifting your family up in prayer. We have lots of fond memories of Kenny, especially his ever present sweet smile. And how he always followed his Mom around at AUMC when she was youth minister. What a trooper! He was a great big brother too. He loved his baby sister and brother. And was so proud of them.

We may not live close by but we love you and think of you often. You are always welcome to come out to the house and ride a horse or gather around the fire pit for a hot dog.

“ Eric & Angelia, I have always admired you both and your relationship. You show to others the love that Christ has for you and you both are real and genuine in spirit. Kenny was so full of energy and smiles and happiness while he was at Aldersgate, I remember him well. As a mom and wife, I can't imagine what either of you are experiencing. My prayers are for you both to stay strong, lean on the Lord and keep your relationship with God and each other alive. Remember the words to the song you once sang "Our Hope Endures". I love you both! Dorothy
